A Typical Student Schedule

So many of you give to help students be here to get an education in ministry to impact their home countries. We thought you might like to see/know their schedule here. Since they would not be able to afford their education on their own, it is set up like a work/study program. They save/raise their money for a plane ticket; leave their homes, their countries, their jobs, and their families for 20 months of year round intense study. While here their room and board is provided, so they really only have personal toiletry expenses...which is good as studies, cleaning and cooking leave them no time to have a job on the side.

Monday - Friday
5:00am- up if you are preparing breakfast (the students rotate in teams who is cooking/doing dishes each day)
6:00 am - breakfast
7:30am-12:30 – classes
12:45 – lunch
2:00-5:00 study time
6:00 supper
7:00 devotions on Mondays
10:00 lights out
Friday nights - Internet/TV time.
Saturdays - cleaning the entire school well & fellowship with hikes, games, movies, & just having fun together.
Sundays –Sunday School & Church

Class of 2012

Without a director for the past few years attendance and finances have declined. But, we are thankful for all the support and staff that have worked even harder for WISE to continue. For the 32nd Commencement of WISE we were pleased to present Cene Wadler and Onest Rosemond with Associate in Ministry Degrees and Colastin Remose with an Associate in Christian Ed. Degree. Bro. Onest was our Honor graduate and will be going back to help preach and teach in his home church in Haiti as well as helping in another area church. Bro. Cene is also going back to help in his church as well and would like to start a Christian Primary school. He wants to continue in his secular education to be an engineer from the classes he received at WISE as a tentmaker. Sis Colastin is headed back to her church to work with the youth program and help teach.

We just said our good-byes to the graduates and put them on the airplane. And while we are sad to not see them physically, we are so excited to see them impact their country with Christ. Please keep them in your prayers as they being anew.

Please Pray for:

- Our graduates as they go back to their home countries to find work
- Praise for EK & Maddie Keller joining our team for a year!
- For a revival in St. Vincent to happen with the retreat team this month.
- Praise the government approved the school paperwork!
- Summer term students as they start to miss home.

God Still Providing

Probably most missions can say they have had some financial downfall in their giving, as well as most families in the world the last few years. As a mission that has existed for over 30 years...most of the supporting churches and individuals have continued their support of WISE each and every one of these years. Thank you!

The mission has had many changes with 3 directorship adjustments (us being the latest), staff changes, death of one of the founders (Bob Muter), school enrollment declining and climbing, costs going up, communication transferred, adding on tent making classes, etc. Yet, the vision of training students to minister to the Caribbean countries still holds true.

In the last year right before we came on board there were a few churches that had decided to support elsewhere. Having just come on board, we were saddened as we had been on the job only days. It was impossible not to take personally but also knowing we believe in the work of WISE and so we had no clue how a budget that was already stretched, could be stretched even more with less coming in?

God knew! A church in Texas He was using to advance His work! WISE was starting tent making computer courses but would need computers as theirs were too old or too few for the current students. And as we learned this, one of the big supporting churches cut out their support. Brice was headed to speak at this church in Texas who had said he could share about WISE that had past connections to a supporting church. And in this meeting, a man (just happened or as we say God planned) to ask if we could use some 3 year old computers? They helped get all the computers and more that WISE needed down here, have come to see the work personally, and are a great support to us now! We are so thankful for all our supporters who have given so much for so many years and those who have just joined WISE!

WISE will be at the NACC
at Booth #1919 in Orlando, FL.
We'd love to connect if you are there!
